COMPARE THE TWO.

TWO of the most striking sentiments of the war penned by representative Americans appeared in the Bonanza of Saturday. Each is worth the most careful scrutiny. Both are from the lips of men whom we have been taught to respect as representatives of the government. Whether the nation will continue to worship at the shrines of these men will depend on the frame of mind and the sincerity actuating the reader. One of these Americans is General Pershing. The other is Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, the only state in open revolt against the government of the United States under the thin disguise of protesting against the draft. You all knew these two men. Which do you believe? Which do you honor and which do you believe away down in the bottom of your heart of hearts voices the sentiments of the American people? With scarcely a dissenting voice we hear the refrain take up the name of Pershing as the man they would wish to follow and the man whose adjuration to the people of the United States will be echoed and re-echoed in millions of hearts throughout the country. Pershing calls every loyal citizen to the colors. He is on the firing line and knows whereof he speaks. He says the war is going to be protracted for years and that millions of Americans are needed to carry the banners of democracy through to the final conquest. There is a solemn, manly masculine ring to this appeal flung across the broad Atlantic. Its words are tense with the truth of the firing line and vibrant with a passionate call to the courageous Americans to back up the colors that soon will flutter from the advance of the next grand charge of the allies.

On the other hand the craven utterances of the misfit senator from the wilds of Oklahoma are sufficient to fill every loyal citizen with a feeling of repulsion that such a creature should be permitted to pollute our halls of congress and indulge in vile sentiments that proclaim the truth of the German epithet that we are a race of "dollar fighters," a race without backbone, virility or courage which is willing to hire others to do its fighting while we stay at home and loiter in ease and freedom from personal risk. Unfortunately for the senator from Oklahoma his physical deficiency will save him from the sound thrashing his utterances deserve. Senator Gore is as blind mentally as he is physically, but that should not twist his moral vision to such an extent as to dwarf his patriotism as a man. The very thought of hiring men to do our fighting when we, a race a hundred million strong, sit back in the bushes twirling our thumbs and knitting with the dear old grannies of the country firesides. It would be a deserving visitation to have such orators given a taste of the real medicine of the war by being sent to the front and presented as hostages to the enemy governments who would quickly demonstrate the difference between theory and conditions. If there is any measure of chastisement that the senate can visit on one of its own members for such an outrageous statement as that credited to the man from Oklahoma we hope it will quickly visit condign punishment on the infamous character who pretends to serve his constituents in the law making body of the United States.

Then, hurrah for the gallant Pershing and to H— with Senator Gore.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

W. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, has issued a ringing appeal to the people who are urged to enjoin their congressmen and senators to act promptly on the measure now before congress having for its purpose the issuance of a guarantee to every dependent of every American soldier of a sufficient income to justify the dependent in letting the son, husband or other breadwinner join the colors under the draft. There is pending before congress a bill having for its object the indemnification of every man enlisting or serving with the army or navy of the United States. This is a business like proposition founded on actuarial laws such as are used for basing the premiums of life insurance and casualty companies. There is no talk of charity or possible pensions but an absolute actuality by which every person entering the services knows to a cent what his heirs will receive in the event of his death or injury. Mr. McAdoo, in addressing himself to the public, insists on the early passage of this law that it may become effective immediately to the end that every drafted man will know that the government is behind him and behind his family so as to contribute to his peace of mind on taking his departure.

"Imagine the emotions of a man who is called into the military service of his country with full knowledge that his loved ones are left without means of support and may be reduced to want unless charity of the community in which they live comes to their relief," is the way Mr. McAdoo presents the question as he continues as follows: "It would be nothing less than a crime for a rich and just government to treat its fighting men so heartlessly and to subject their wives and children, who are unable to fight, to greater suffering than if they could fight."

As the secretary of the treasury warms up to his mission he hurls the following passionate argument at congress:

"We are proposing to expend during the next year more than ten billion dollars to create and maintain the necessary fighting forces to re-establish justice in the world. But justice must begin at home; justice must be done to the men who die and suffer for us on the battlefields and for their wives and children and dependents who sacrifice for us at home. To do justice to them requires only a tithe of the money we are expending for the general objects of the war. Let it not be said that noble America was ignoble in the treatment of her soldiers and sailors and callous to the fate of their dependents in this greatest war of all time."

This is the business end of the war just as necessary as the organization of an army of three million men and the equipping of them to meet the foe on the battlefield or in the trenches. No time should be lost in calling attention of the Nevada congressional delegation to the urgency of passing this bill which should be unanimously endorsed instead of being side tracked for other measures of less importance.

Uncle Sam's long arm will soon have the leaders of the kaiser's information bureau in his clutches but he should not rest with the known agents but keep a close lookout for emissaries in the ranks of the new army. The opportunities for active and hurtful work under the hastily mobilized condition are many and it behooves every loyal young American to keep on the alert for evidence of spy trouble.

John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has proved himself another grand old man of organized labor by insisting that this is not the time for workers to take unfair advantage of employing interests.

President Wilson proposes to commandeer all the coal of the country. If the consumers of Nevada want a short cut to comfort next winter they better see what can be done about developing a coal mine in their own state.

BASEBALL GAMES

(By Associated Press.)
 NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The pennant races in the National and American leagues continued with only little change the last week. In the National New York slipped back slightly while Philadelphia, in second place, gained somewhat. In the American the week ended with Chicago and Boston in the same positions as at the beginning. Yesterday the White Sox increased its lead by defeating Philadelphia, 14 to 6, while the Red Sox were losing to Cleveland, 7 to 2.

New York had the poorest week in the National league since the week ending July 29. The Giants had a heavy schedule, but the best they could do was to break even in ten games. McGraw's men, although batting well, had erratic pitching and their total of 16 errors was the highest for any week of the present season, but they also played more games.

Philadelphia won six and lost two by winning one out of three from Boston and five games straight from Pittsburgh. Cincinnati held third place again for one day and then gave way to St. Louis. Chicago continued its good play and Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago now are bunched closely, nine points separating these three western contenders.

The Chicagoans improved over the previous week. Rowland's men hit harder and their scoring power improved. Three of the six games went into extra innings and two of them resulted victoriously for the White Sox who held on to first place until Friday, when they lost to Philadelphia in twelve innings. Boston taking first place. Saturday the White Sox came back to the lead by beating Philadelphia while Boston was breaking even in a double header with Cleveland.

Cleveland slumped, winning only two out of seven, but Detroit could only win two out of six and did not gain on the Indians. New York broke its losing streak with seven straight by defeating St. Louis Friday, but the Yankees are still in the rut. Washington gained on the others by coming through the week without a defeat, winning five games. Detroit succeeded yesterday in breaking the Senators' winning streak.

SULPHUR MILL RUINED BY FIRE

SECOND TIME PLANT HAS BEEN BURNED—LOSS ABOUT $15,000

News of the destruction of the mill at the sulphur mine, near Sulphur, by fire last Friday night was brought to Winnemucca Wednesday by Judge J. J. Anderson. The origin of the fire is a mystery but there is no reason to believe it was of incendiary origin. Mr. Anderson has taken a contract to rebuild the pitchers' battle between Ehme and Ayers. Cobb, coaching at third, touched Burns as he was rounding that base and Washington demanded that the man be called out. Umpire Hildebrand, however, said that as the ball was too far away for a play to be made the rule did not operate. Manager Griffith, of Washington, has protested the game.

(By Associated Press.)
 CLEVELAND, Aug. 20.—Cleveland broke even on the series with Boston by winning the game, 7 to 2. The locals drove Jones from the box in four innings. It was the first game started by Jones for Boston this year.

(By Associated Press.)
 ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—Sothoron was a puzzle to New York and the visitors lost the final game of the series to St. Louis, 4 to 1. Mogridge was hit hard and his support was unsteady.

 NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Cincinnati defeated New York here Sunday, 5 to 0, in the first National league game ever played in Manhattan Borough on Sunday. A ball autographed by President Wilson auctioned off for $500.

Toney's pitching stopped the Giants, as he allowed only five hits. It was only the fourth shut-out suffered by New York this season.

reduction plant and work will be started as soon as the material can be delivered, says the Humboldt Star.

The sulphur mine is owned by San Francisco parties and has been operated off and on for the past forty years. It is one of the few sulphur mines in the United States. Since the war started the price of sulphur has been high and the property has been worked to the limit of production. It is only a few miles from the town of Sulphur, on the Western Pacific, over which road the refined product is shipped to market.

The loss by the fire is estimated at about $15,000, including a considerable quantity of refined sulphur. The mill at the sulphur mine was also destroyed by fire a few years ago.
